WE WELCOME YOU

A week from today the citizens of this district will have an opportunity of extending to the returned men, and those men who were so unfortunate to have been unable to see their service in the uniform, overseas the right royal welcome to civilian life and their home district, such as the residents of this district only know how to extend—at Lake Lodge.

There does not detract, however, from the warmth of the welcome we endeavor to extend to those men who have returned to GRIMSBY and the District since our last issue—and small though may be the numbers, the welcome is just as hearty to each individual as though a battalion was returning to the Barr.

A "welcome, lad—we're glad to see you with us again" is but a small thing to say, or write—but when the pent-up thankfulness and feeling of honor we have for these and all such men, is considered, it means a lot.

MAJOR, Major Harry F. Baker, an extremely well known and highly popular resident of North GRIMSBY, the past member of years, returned to his home in this district on Wednesday, July 16, 1919, after a long, varied and strenuous overseas experience with the Canadian and Imperial forces. Major Baker was granted his commission as a Lieutenant and assigned to the 39th Battalion upon the organization of that unit in the early days of the war and accompanied it overseas early in 1915. For many months he was unsuccessful in getting to France but after doing instructional work at the different Canadian Depots in and near Folkestone and Sheerness for many weary months, he was seconded to the Imperial Forces for Conducting Duty in taking drafts to France, with the rank of Captain. After a long and monotonous period of this duty Captain Baker at last was able to secure an appointment on the Western Front and became attached to an Imperial Labor Unit, with which branch of the service he served over two years. While with the latter unit of the Imperial Forces, Capt. Baker's services were recognized to the extent of a promotion to the rank of Major and his appointment to the command of the unit with which he had served for many months shortly after the signing of the armistice. Major Baker returned to England, and was doing miscellaneous and drafting duty to France, at the time of his recall to the Canadian Forces, for return to Canada and demobilization. To Major Baker lies the honor of being the officer in charge of the last British draft of men sent across the English Channel to La Havre during the war. Just at the time Major Baker was recalled to his parent forces, he was slated for promotion to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, in which rank he was appointed to command a labor group of ten or twelve thousand men. Major Baker is an excellent marksman, having been with the Imperial Forces in Matabeland some years ago. Mrs. Baker and daughter Miss Edythe, who returned to Canada some months ago, accompanied her husband to England in 1915 and for some years carried on hospital work, very actively, amongst the Canadian Hospitals in the area where the Major was stationed at various times during his sojourn in the Old Land previous to proceeding to duty in France.

CALHOUN, Nursing Sister, Honorary Lieut., Canadian Army Medical Corps, of Vancouver and Toronto, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Livingston, GRIMSBY, having returned to Canada from Overseas a week or so ago. Miss Calhoun was taken on the strength of the C. A. M. C. Toronto in the latter part of 1918, and stationed for duty at the Base Hospital, there, where she remained for some months being transferred to the Officers' Convalescent Home, Jarvis Street, that City in the spring of 1917. In this latter station, Miss Calhoun took care of Lieut. J. A. M. Livingston, following his last operation and during his convalescence. She remained on duty at the O. C. H. Toronto, until late in 1918, saving, in the meantime been on draft on several occasions to process overseas the drafts being cancelled before the date of departure. Late in 1918 Miss Calhoun proceeded to England on a C. A. M. C. draft and was stationed at No. 4 Canadian General Hospital, Basingstoke, Hants from the time of her arrival in the Old Land, until her return to Canada for demobilization, last week.

COWLAND, Pte. Cecil A. C. R. A. returned resident of North GRIMSBY, returned to his home, a few days ago after something less than a year of overseas service. Pte. Cowland was caught in the net of Conscription, under the Military Service Act, 1917.

and reported for duty upon being called to the colors, to the 1st Depot Battalion, 2nd Central Ontario Regiment in the early part of 1918. After a short time with this depot unit, Pte. Cowland was sent on draft to England, where he landed in August 1918 and was stationed with a Machine Gun Depot at Bedford Camp. In November, 1918 he was drafted to France where he joined a Base Depot at Aubin St. Vaast and spent considerable time there after the cessation of hostilities, until return to England a short time ago for return to Canada and demobilization.

McLAV, Major J. F. M. C. C. de G. (France) the most popular and well known physician who has ever practiced in this district for the past many years, returned to GRIMSBY to resume his practice on Monday afternoon of the present week, after an absence on overseas service of over four years, during which time he distinguished himself to considerable extent. Major McLav left here in April 1915 with the rank of Lieut. to report for duty in England with the Royal Army Medical Corps, and upon arrival there was retained but a very short time previous to being posted to duty in France. In August 1915 he proceeded to France where he became attached to the 3rd Cavalry Division, with which unit he saw service on many parts of the Western Front, going through several severe engagements; transferring to the 34th Division in the spring of 1916 and going through the whole Somme offensive of that year with it, being promoted to the rank of Capt. shortly after joining the new division. Capt. McLav, as he now was, continued with the 34th Division until after the Battle of Arras in April 1917, participating in every engagement with it, and they were many and severe; and shortly after Arras, he was allowed to proceed to England, thence to Canada, on a short furlough. He returned to England again in June 1917, and after a short time on duty there proceeded to Saloniki in August 1917, where he "carried on" in stationary hospitals on different parts of that suffering unit or two slight attacks of malaria while there. In the early spring of 1918, Capt. McLav returned to England again and in June 1918 was sent to France for the second time, there rejoining his old love, the 34th Division with which he was allowed to remain but a short time before being transferred to the Guards Division upon joining it, until the demobilization of that unit in March of 1919, at which time he remained in Germany doing local duty on different stations. While serving with the Guards Division, Capt. McLav, for his distinguished and courageous work under fire upon several severe engagements in June and July 1918, was awarded the Military Cross and the Croix de Guerre (France) with Croix Citoyen and Bronze Star, Second Class; and in September 1918 was promoted to his present rank, that of Major. Major McLav returned to Canada shortly after the end of the present year and has been awaiting transportation to Canada for release from service, since that time until the present.

NO ONE SERIOUSLY HURT

In Smash on Main Street on Peace Day Evening—"Road-Hog's" Fault

The record of the Main Street and Provincial Highway through GRIMSBY, and the District, on Peace Day, Saturday, July 19, 1919, insofar as the occurrence of accidents, owing to the enormous motor traffic was a wonderful one, and despite the hundred and hundreds of motor-cars that went over the road in both directions from early morning until early the next day, no accidents of a serious nature have been so far reported.

One, that might have proved very serious indeed, had it not been for the presence of mind of one of the drivers, occurred shortly after seven o'clock, however, just at the Eastern Limit of the Village, which should be a lesson to many of the fruit growers of the District who seem to think that the entire roadway is for their own use and theirs alone.

A certain fruit-grower was driving West with a dray-load of fruit pickers, very slowly and in the centre of the road. A flivver was also coming West and the driver endeavored to secure a "turn-out" by the dray-driver, by a constant use of his horn. Mr. Dray-driver, however, with that perverseness that can only be witnessed in a true "road-hog" continued to keep to the centre of the road. Mr. Flivver driver thought to pass him anyway.

In the meantime Mr. H. H. Marsh's heavy car was proceeding East, at a reasonable rate of speed, filled with children and in charge of Mr. Marsh's young son Dayton. He met the dray. The flivver turned out to pass the dray. Young Marsh saw what was going to happen and brought his car to a standstill in less time than it takes to tell.

The flivver apparently lost control, and hurtled on toward Marsh's car, smashing into the front of it with terrific force and snapping the bumper of the big car; incidentally putting the front axle of the lighter "bus" to the bad also. A lady in the front seat of the Lizzie wedged forward into the windshield and cut her face slightly besides bruising her knees badly; and she was apparently the one person injured in the smash, although the other occupants of both cars were somewhat shaken.

A crowd soon collected and Chief Constable Konkle was on the job in but an infinitesimal lapse of time to clear the road, extricate the mixed up cars and keep the traffic moving in order to avoid a congestion. The "road-hog", of course escaped without injury.

It seems a pity that as much as the Main Road through this district has been used by motorists and as much education as has been absorbed by the bulk of our residents along the line of "traffic", we should still have in our midst any specimens of a rapidly-fading species such as the driver of the dray who caused this accident is—and yet, like the poor, we likely shall always be pestered with just such specimens, as long as stubborn-selfish-narrow-mindedness remains a quality in the make-up of the human race.

WILL GRIMSBY WELCOME THE PRINCE??

Even He Does Not Sleep Here, as His Father Did, A Civic Address Should be Forwarded to Him

Ottawa, July 18.—It is officially announced that addresses for presentation to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales during his visit to Canada should begin as follows:

"To His Royal Highness Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David, Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester, in the Peerage of the United Kingdom; Duke of Cornwall in the Peerage of England; Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick and Baron of Renfrew, in the Peerage of Scotland; Lord of the Isles and Great Steward of Scotland, K. G., G. M. M. G. M. C. etc., etc."

"May it please your Royal Highness."

Address should end as follows: "We have the honor to be Sir," "Your Royal Highness' most obedient servants."

Drafts of addresses, which should not ordinarily exceed four paragraphs in length should be sent in not later than the 1st of August to the Governor General's Secretary Ottawa.

We leave the above press despatch in the minds of our citizens and Village Council, to take what action they consider right in order to keep GRIMSBY well to the fore in matters of this nature.

GRIMSBY CIVILIAN RIFLE ASSOCIATION

A Duty to Your Country to Be Able to Handle a Gun—G. C. R. A. Membership is the First Step to Take Towards That End.

A plea for an increase in membership in the GRIMSBY Civilian Rifle Association is the object of this short article, and we trust that the response may be hearty.

The object of the Association is to foster the art of rifle shooting and to inculcate into its members the valuable knowledge of the care of firearms at the same time striving to them a form of recreation that is both healthful and invigorating; and of inestimable benefit in the art of control.

The G. C. R. A. is a most unfortunate reaction, at the present time, of having no rifle-range for the use of its members—but this will be remedied as early a date as is possible; and then the Association will offer to every red-blooded man and boy in the District an exceptional opportunity to train themselves in the game of handling arms.

An increased membership will go a long way towards the securing of an adequate and safe range for the use, pleasure and profit of the members of the District, and we would urge every one at all interested to get in communication with J. A. M. Livingston, Secretary-Treasurer, or T. A. Clifton Jones, President, of the Association, who will give you full particulars of the conditions and cost of membership.

DO IT NOW!!!

FOLLOW THE SOLDIERS To Lake Lodge on Wednesday, July 24—Spend Day in History of GRIMSBY

This is the last call before the day of the Big Dole's at Lake Lodge, GRIMSBY, when the GRIMSBY District Repatriation Committee, Welfare Section, will entertain every man who has seen service in the army or navy, his wife and kiddies, father and mother, sweetheart or sweetheart, friends, romances and fellow-citizens, at the biggest and most friendly intermingling of people ever gathered together on one lot, this District has ever known.

The general public is cordially invited to help make the "boys" feel at home—and every man who has worn the uniform is urged to be present to show the general public they appreciate the appreciation of the home-folks.

Commencing right after dinner, on Wednesday afternoon July 24—a week from today—it will be the habit of everybody to "follow the soldiers" to Lake Lodge, there to participate in their hearts' content in the program of sports now being arranged by a competent committee, for valuable prizes, to wander about the grounds gazing in the beauty of the surroundings; or to bask in the tepid waters of Old Lake Ontario—in fact to make themselves at home as much as though they were rolling the grass in their own backyard.

The Revue of North GRIMSBY GRIMSBY are declaring Wednesday, July 24, a half-holiday—and this will give many the opportunity to be present to enjoy the enjoyment of the defenders of the empire, who would otherwise not be able to be on hand—and it is hoped and urged that everyone takes advantage of the occasion to the fullest extent.

The 44th Regiment Band, many of whose members have recently returned from service, will be on hand to render the musical end of the day's program—and those disinclined to strenuous exercises will certainly enjoy this feature of the activities.

About five-thirty tea will be served, when every soldier and his family or com-to-be-family will sit down to large and plentifully loaded tables beneath the ancient trees on the grounds and partake of edibles prepared for them as only the women of this district know how to prepare them.

To the general public, who are requested to bring their lunch baskets with them, but tea and coffee will be supplied free—and the affair will assume the proportions of the largest hot-door meal ever cooked in the section of the country, and many are the lovers of a good meal who are being urged to bring their families and those of the elders who cannot make their feet behave, a large dancing platform will be especially erected on the campus upon which dancing will be enjoyed to the strains of an excellent orchestra.

The Committee which has the plans for the monster welcome-home picnic in hand are working hard to give the folks the "day of their lives" and the success of the day now entirely depends on the weather man who has been consulted and requested to make as decent arrangements for that day—and the soldiers, their friends, relatives and admirers.

Take a half-day off—follow the soldiers—and the pleasure you will derive from seeing these war-weary, scarred-veterans enjoy themselves amongst themselves will more than repay you.

DEATH OF MRS. FRED MARSH

Prominent and Popular Young Matron Succumbs After Long Brave Fight

The saddest duty we have been called upon to perform in a long time is to chronicle the death, this week, of one of GRIMSBY's most popular and well known young matrons, in the person of Mrs. Fred M. Marsh of the firm of D. Marsh and Sons, which took place at her residence, Clark and Ontario Streets, GRIMSBY, on the afternoon of Tuesday, July 17, 1919, after a long and painful illness.

The late Mrs. Marsh was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Barnett of Strathroy, Ont., and was born in that village where she saw her girlhood and received her education; marrying Mr. Fred M. Marsh, the youngest son of Mr. Daniel Marsh, GRIMSBY, some twelve years ago and moving to GRIMSBY with her husband.

During the time the lately deceased lady had resided in this district she had been extremely well known and highly popular with all classes, for her sweet and effervescent activities in all phases of church and social work and during the past war she was a leader in every field of endeavor along the lines of patriotic and other war-charitable work, giving unparagoned of herself and her time and finances to the end that the men who went overseas from this District, and their families would have no cause for complaint that the District had not backed them in every possible way.

The late Mrs. Marsh had been in good health but some months ago was stricken with a very malignant disease which even her indefatigable will and cool courage could not shake off, and she was compelled to go to the Hamilton Hospital and undergo one or more operations in the hope that her health and strength would be returned to her. The operations and a pain which she suffered undermined her vitality to such an extent, that after first being confined to her room, she never again arose or was able to get

VIOLA DANA

VIOLA DANA IS CLEVER STAR OF "THE GOLD CURE"

Favorite Actress to be Seen in Clever Metro Play at Moore's Theatre Saturday July 26th

One of the cleverest of the many clever Metro plays, which Viola Dana has appeared on the screen will be the attraction at Moore's theatre on Saturday July 26th. This is a romantic drama, "The Gold Cure", a play of five acts. Anabelle, played by Miss Dana finds a town where all the young fellows have left a very dismal place to live in and decides to take matters into her own hands and supply the lamentable lack of men. Her plot is a simple one and her only aid a box of carter's tacks. How she manipulates these simple articles to achieve her own ends is shown in the picture and the unexpected adventures which follow one another in quick succession gives action and life to the brilliant comedy. Miss Dana is at her liveliest in this new offering and has the able support of William B. Davidson, John McGowan, Howard P. Elsie McLeod, Fred Jones, Franklin Hanna, Ed. Mack, Julia Hurst, and George Dowling. The scenario was adapted from the story of the same name written by Alexzine Heyland and was directed by John Collins.

INTERFERING WITH FOUNTAIN

Securing Access to Water Commission—Why Not Leave it Alone?

Some one has said, in the past, "Meddle not with that which does not concern you"—and it's advice we would hand on to any one who wishes to take it and follow it out, relative to the drinking fountain that stands on the Main Street in front of K. M. Stephens' store.

Since the water was turned into this fountain this season the Superintendent of Works has been in receipt of numerous complaints, from time to time, as to the "dryness" of the "cask" and upon investigation has found that someone without authority has turned the water off at the stop-cock below the fountain. This has happened not once, but several times, and the Water Commissioners are getting about "fed-up" with it happening at all.

This fountain was erected where it is as a convenience to the citizens of and visitors to this village; and naturally it is of no great benefit to anyone when the water does not flow through it. The jobs, therefore, intended by the pinhead who turns it off from time to time is ill-timed and of a character not to be appreciated by good people.

If people would learn to follow their own business and leave the business of other people alone the world would be a better place to live in—and we would be able to secure a refreshing draught from the Village Fountain at all times. THINK IT OVER—AND LEAVE IT ALONE!!

WHY NOT TOWN OF GRIMSBY?

Village Council Might Take Matter Up in Time Ordinarily Devoted to Privately.

While the incorporation of the Village of GRIMSBY might not be arrived at during the tenure of office of the present Council—we do not consider that any excuse for that body to let the matter slide and take no action to wards the ultimate result desired.

And we would suggest that they endeavor to bend their efforts to that end, at their next Council Meeting—in the time that they usually spend in irrelevant and frivolous remarks, stories and "kidding".

We realize that there possibly will be some opposition to the annexation of the necessary portion of the Township of GRIMSBY to bring about the incorporation of the municipality as a Town—but that might well be overcome by a propaganda along the right lines; and the Village Council are the ones to set the ball rolling by taking the matter up in session in a serious manner, and outlining the necessary work that will have to be done.

It lies within our memory that during a hot Local Option fight in this Village, some years ago one of the factions adopted a slogan "A Town in Time"—A City in Time. It is Surely GRIMSBY does not have to take off its hat to any other municipality of its own size, for progressiveness—but these other municipalities will be speeding beyond GRIMSBY, if we do not look after our own gear. TALK TO—DREAM IT—THINK IT—DO IT—THE TOWN OF GRIMSBY.

The death of a very well known and popular resident of North GRIMSBY occurred at the home of Mr. E. A. Hunter, on Sunday, July 20, 1919, when Miss Emily Clendenin passed quietly away after but a brief illness, at the age of fifty-four years.

Miss Clendenin had been in good health, up until within a very short time of her death, and her demise came as a distinct shock to her many friends and relatives in this District.

The deceased lady was a daughter of Mr. Henry A. Clendenin, Calmar, but has resided in this District for many years; and the funeral took place on Tuesday, July 22, 1919, from his home to Grace Church, Calmar where services were held and interment took place.

IMPROVEMENTS
A gang of men from the Public Works Department made a good job of cleaning up Lake Street the previous to Pence Day—it must have been a great improvement on the state of affairs as they drifted through that day and Sunday. It did not get so, at least.

RUMORS

ISN'T IT NEARLY TIME another application of oil was made on Main Street? Our Superintendent of Works is reminding us, not to overlook keeping up the County Road Superintendence in this matter.

WE HOPE the Village Council will drill in address of welcome to be sent to H. R. H. the Prince of Wales when he comes to Canada.—T. P.

HOW MUCH IS YOUR TELEPHONE BILL?

You Can Call to Rooming A Wardship on This District. When Will Some One Take Action to Combat The Situation?

We have received a correction from Mr. H. L. Roberts, Reeve of North GRIMSBY, in connection with our statement to the effect that he had informed us that the Bell Telephone Company had applied to the Railway Board for permission to raise rates, and cut free zones, etc., and that he had considered any action on the part of the Township unnecessary in the matter. Mr. Roberts now informs us that he did not inform us to that effect; that we misinterpreted him when he had said he seemed to remember having received such a notice from the Telephone Company relative to the rise in the rates for his own telephone. And he also states that in his knowledge the Township was not notified relative to the Company's application to the Railway Board for permission to raise the rates.

We regret we misunderstood the statement of Mr. Roberts, and that any publication we made in the matter has placed him in the wrong light. Mr. Roberts, however, further stated to the INDEPENDENT, in drawing attention to our error with regard to his previous statement, that he would not consider it a wise move on the part of the Township to take any action to combat the existing scale of rates and zones, as were recently put into effect by the Bell Telephone Company; as such action would place the Township to considerable expense, and the result would hardly be any more satisfactory than the situation is at present.

We have yet to hear from the Reeve of the Village, as to the stand he or his Council takes in the matter—and in the meantime the Telephone Company goes merrily on charging us ten cents per call to Rooming and outside points.

The Grimsby Fruit Buyers have strong Committee working securing data with which to combat the existing conditions as inflicted upon us by the Bell Telephone Company, and place before the Dominion Railway Board an alternative proposition, if necessary, in order to secure an order restraining the Telephone Company from collecting their present scale of toll-rates.

The United Farmers of Ontario at Grimsby have also taken the matter up strenuously, and at a meeting of the body held at Grimsby on Thursday evening, July 17, 1915, a strongly worded resolution was unanimously passed to the effect that if the Bell Telephone Company did not regulate the present toll-rates and place the 'phone subscribers on the old basis as regards the free zones, by August first, the members of the U. F. O. at Grimsby would cancel their telephone contracts with effect from October first, and have the instruments taken from their places of business, residences, etc.

The Grimsby Branch of the U. F. O. has a membership of fifty-eight, and about seventy-five per cent of whom are subscribers to the Bell Telephone Company.

The foregoing is the state of affairs in this section, at present, and the feeling towards the cutting down of the free-zone-area is very strong indeed—and yet our Village Council seems along as though not a care in the world were bothering them or the people whom they represent and presumably protect.

WHY?????

The Council of the Township of South GRIMSBY has at last taken cognizance of the fact that the Bell Telephone Company is raising the toll calls and cutting the free zones to be served from certain centrals, according to a motion passed by that Council, in session, on July 11, 1915, to which we refer you to in another column if this issue.

The following is a summary of the collection made in this District. Envelopes, $29.50—Total sold on July 12th $12.11—Boxes 10 boxes $6.91—Total $47.50.

THE MONTH PROGRAMME

Will be Outstanding Feature of Soldiers' Day at Lake Lodge—July 26.

The splendid and well assorted programme of athletic sports that the Committee in Charge have framed for the Soldiers' Day to participate in when they would their joyous way to Lake Lodge, on Wednesday afternoon, July 26—to take part in the monster Soldiers' Picnic, there will be an outstanding feature of the day's pleasure—a fun.

A touch of game is scheduled between a civilian team and a team of ex-service men, and we are going betting on the scrappers we're prejudiced, if you like, to the civies who better give their best and get ready for a real, royal thrashing such as our lads gave Fritz.

A tag-of-war between married soldiers and single-soldiers will be another feature of the days programme, and is going to be some tag-of-war, we're awfully sure, for we're sure that having seen the lot of men in action we do not go so far as to water in the out come. But we call on our statutorily inclined sportsmen to test their prowess in that line before trying for a place on the team.

A LIFETIME OF SUFFERING

Prevented by "Fruit-a-lives" The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

At Mansfield St., HULL, GEN.
"In my opinion, no other medicine is so good as 'Fruit-a-lives' for Indigestion and Constipation."

For years, I suffered with these dreaded diseases, trying all kinds of treatments until I was told I was incurable.

One day a friend told me to try 'Fruit-a-lives'. To my surprise, I found this medicine gave immediate relief, and in a short time I was all right again."

DONAT LALONDE

Box a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 30c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

The general outline of the programme of sports to be run off is a bit lengthy to give particulars of, but we can assure you that no organized meeting will have anything on Our Boys in the staging of a card—they've had experiences under worse conditions and the races, jumps, etc. will be for them.

The prizes for each event are appropriate and valuable, and the value of course, will be increased by the feeling that they were won at a purely patriotic day in the Home Town. So, in short, get ready and shell-shocked men prepare to hear a gun go off once again when the location face the starter.

Last but not Least—EVERYBODY TURN OUT AND MAKE THE DAY THE MOST SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR EVER PULLED OFF IN THIS DISTRICT.

RAID SERENADES MR. JOHN HEWITT

Visits "Door Park" on Tuesday Evening, and Shows Their Appreciation of His Generosity to Them.

On Tuesday evening, July 22, 1915 "Door Park", the residence of Mr. John Hewitt, was the scene of a most pleasant event, when the members of the U. F. O. and other patriotic organizations and individuals, in an attempt to show their appreciation of Mr. Hewitt's generosity towards their organization, and in return for the support of their efforts. The committee, upon this occasion, being particularly prompted by the appearance of Mr. Hewitt at the presentation to them, of complete, new uniform equipment.

The whole thing turned out in force, and in the new uniforms supplied by Mr. Hewitt's great generosity, and rendered a programme of excellent music during the evening, for the pleasure and entertainment of Mr. Hewitt, his household, and guests.

After the programme rendered by the band had been completed Mr. Hewitt invited them into the house, and there the assembly partook of a delightful light lunch; and several local orators delivered themselves of short addresses on behalf of Mr. Hewitt and expressing to him, on behalf of the Village and the Band, the great appreciation felt at his continued interest in and generosity toward that organization, and expressing the fervent wish that he might long be spared to appreciate the increased enthusiasm in the ranks of the Band, as a result of his unselfish support of it after which the party dispersed.

Unlucky Girl Loses Pay Envelope—How She Found It—Who Took the Money?

On Friday evening, last, July 18, 1915, a local young lady was wandering through the Main Street on her way to the Band Concert in Library Park, when she was unfortunate enough to fall on the sidewalk and losing her pay envelope. When she was once more on her feet, and had regained her property she continued her "mooch" never thinking to check over the contents of her bag to ascertain if anything had dropped out of it.

When she had occasion to look in the bag for something, she discovered that a pay-envelope that had been there, containing her week's wages, had disappeared; and hastily making sure of its non-existence, she retraced her steps from the concert, to the Main Street, and where she had fallen, in the hope that it would be discovered in that neighborhood.

The envelope could not be found—but in the search, the area widened, and a short ways up from where the young lady had fallen, was found the envelope, with the one end torn, and the money that had nestled within its protecting folds had disappeared as into thin air.

Evidently someone of a more or less easy conscience, relative to the loss of other people's property had picked the envelope up and not being of that honest type that would have returned it or at least made an endeavor to find its owner, had appropriated the amount it contained as a reward for finding it.

This certainly is a case which, down here for any man or woman to play and we trust that this article comes to the hand of householder's notice and that it will have the effect of making some effort towards finding out whose money they sneakily stole.

SPRITUALISM

Badly Balanced People Often Go Crazy

The war has given an enormous impetus to spiritualism. Prior to 1914 the number of people who tried to get in touch with the other world through table-turning and so on was limited to the comparatively few; now half London, if not, indeed, half England, are madly bitten with the craze, and this being so, a few hints as to the dangers these would-be "communicators" incur may not be inappropriate.

First of all there is the danger of people who are not absolutely evenly balanced and level-headed becoming so absorbed with the craze that they eventually go off their heads. From frequently attending table-turning sittings and listening there to real or spurious spirit knockings and crackings, they fancy they hear the same sounds at home, and in the end are pursued by them wherever they go.

The asylums are full of such people, and I could quote at least ten cases within my personal knowledge where suicide has been the result.

People who are naturally very emotional or highly strung, without being necessarily weak-minded, should also abstain from sittings, as the tension and excitement is very injurious to the nervous system, and often leads to attacks of hysterics and chronic insomnia. Epileptics and those inclined to epilepsy should also studiously avoid seances. I have seen several epileptic seizures when I have been at sittings.

There is also decided danger to those suffering with heart disease, as messages that come through are occasionally of a very alarming nature. For example, I was present on one occasion at a seance when a lady, anxious to hear news of her son at the front, was informed by the table that he had just been killed. She instantly fainted, and it was only with the greatest difficulty she could be brought round.

Apart from shocks produced by certain messages, there is the danger of much mischief being caused through the superstitions of one of the sitters. For instance, if one of the sitters wishes to do anyone an injury, she can, infrequently, so manipulate the table that it tilts or falls out a message calculated to prejudice people against that person.

As an illustration, I knew a medium who once quarrelled with a particular friend of mine, and one day at a seance at which the medium was present, the table delivered a message of a most scandalous nature concerning my friend. Fortunately someone present had observed the medium cheating, otherwise my friend's reputation might have been damaged, and considerable mischief caused. As the sort of thing is with out doubt far from uncommon, all messages purporting to come from the spirit world, whether obtained at table-tilting, or from a clairvoyant, or by automatic writing, should be taken with reserve.

Then there is always the possibility of getting into touch with a very undesirable class of spirit, and two facts lead me to believe this happens more frequently than is generally supposed. Firstly, a certain percentage of messages that come through and which cannot be attributed to the spirit world, whether obtained at table-tilting, or from a clairvoyant, or by automatic writing, should be taken with reserve.

ARMENIA

Country Is Old In History But Young Among Nations

If, on the map of Asia Minor, you will draw a line from Alexandria, on the Mediterranean, to Basmoun, on the Black Sea, and another line from Alexandria due east to Mount Ararat, the mighty boundary-stone which marks the meeting place of Turkey, Persia and Russia, the resultant triangle will roughly correspond to the area of Turkish Armenia. Says Major E. Alexander Powell, in the Review of Reviews: "Though Turkish Armenia, in its broadest sense, is usually understood to include nine vilayets—Mouret-Aziz, Diarbekir, Sivas, Aleppo and Adana—the Armenia which it is proposed to revivify will probably consist of only the first six of these provinces, for the Turks will almost certainly be permitted to retain Sivas, the strategically important Aleppo, the greatest railway centre in Western Asia, is within the British sphere of influence; while France has claims to Adana."

To get a mental picture of the new state of Armenia you must imagine a country about the size of North Dakota, with Dakota's cold winters and scorching summers, consisting of a dreary and monotonous plateau of an average height of 4,000 feet, with grass-covered, treeless mountains and watered by many rivers, whose valleys form wide stretches of arable land. Rising above the general level of this Armenian tableland are barren and forbidding ranges, broken by many gloomy gorges, which culminate, on the extreme northeast, in the mighty peak of Ararat, the traditional resting-place of the Ark. This region has been identified with the Armenians as their historic home for three thousand years. The names of towns, valleys, mountains, lakes and rivers are Armenian; the countryside is dotted with the monuments of ancient Armenia; the soil is soaked with Armenian blood—for it was a host of the Turks that they would have Armenia without the Armenians, and above all else, over Armenia, no matter where he may dwell, in profane, fully attached to this wild and semi-barren land, the cradle of his race.

The Armenians unquestionably have the first and the greatest claim on Armenia. They have been known as a nation since the times of Herodotus and probably earlier. Under Tigranes Armenia was the centre of an empire extending from the Orontes to the Caspian. Though for six hundred years she has suffered under Turkish cruelty and oppression, she has steadfastly remained the bulwark of Christianity in Asia. Before the war the Armenians in the six vilayets numbered approximately 1,000,000 as compared to 800,000 Turks. But there is no saying how many Armenians remain, for during the four years of the war the Turks perpetrated a series of wholesale massacres in order to be able to tell the Christian powers, as a Turkish official cynically remarked, that "we cannot make a state without inhabitants." A few generations of peaceful lives should be quite enough, however, for the prolific Armenians to repopulate the country and to restore it to its ancient prosperity.

Came Down from Rome

Among the Albanians lives a fragment of a strange people who call themselves Ruman. Said to be descendants of the Romans—of that fifth Roman legion which dispersed and scattered along the old highway stretching from Durness to Constantinople. This great race of ancient Rome (via Egnatia), called at its beginning the Apollon Way, passed southeast through Italy to Brindisi; beginning again at Durres, running through Elbasan by Lake Ochrida to Krusha, and on to Monastir and Voden; thence to Salonika and beyond to Constantinople.

The Ruman are proud of their origin, and answer the questions of race by saying: "I am a descendant of the Romans." They are a simple, pastoral people, not given to robbery or brigandage. Their primitive little villages of stone are frequently seen in the mountains, often perched near high summits. A large colony of them, known as Kacha, live on the slope of the Pindus Mountains in sight of Lascoviki but far away across the valley and gorge.

From the heights where they graze their flocks in summer, the Ruman descend into the valleys in winter; and on the road men, women and children, surrounded by their herds of sheep and goats in search of grazing lands, form a picture of nomadic life that reminds us of the days of Abraham.

There are said to be some 50,000 of these Ruman, but who really knows their number, scattered as they are over hundreds of mountain peaks, in inaccessible villages of caves, and moving from place to place.

The Inglewicks' Hollanders

In some parts of Holland the farmers have taken a hint from nature, and as a result have their own private ponds. On the drained marshy land, below the sea level, natural gas is plentiful, and ponds have been installed to get it to practical use. The installation comprises a well, into which water from the soil filters, and a gas-generator placed therein, thus extracting the gaseous properties from the water and conducting them to a reservoir containing a supply for the house. The gas thus obtained provides all the wants for cooking, heating, and lighting in the house or any other part of the farmyard. After the plant is once installed, which can be done at a small expense, the cost is nothing, and the quality of the gas is said to be particularly good.

The Beech Tree

The beech, which is found in the temperate zone in Europe, America and Asia, is valuable in medicine as the crescent distilled from its bark. Cresson, cresson, carbonates and quinalcins are medicines used to supplement the hygienic measures which have done so much to reduce the death rate in sufferers from pulmonary tuberculosis.

Four New States in Europe

ONE of the tasks of the Peace Conference which has consumed the greatest time and called for the wisest planning has been the erection in Europe of four new nations, and it is not yet completed. To draw the frontiers of even one nation might well occupy the attention of statesmen for weeks, and the difficulty of planning four of them is more than four times as great. Yet the task appears almost to have been done. This is owing to the map of Europe indeed, and there are still more changes to come. Germany is to divide herself up in some manner not yet known. Austria-Hungary is likely to be further dismembered and there may be two or three republics finally emerge when the Bolshevik earthquake finally subsides in Russia. But these new formations, are things that the Allies do not conceive to be their particular concern, unless it might be that they should forbid the uniting of Austria and Germany. They have felt concerned, however, to establish Poland, Roumania, Jugo-Slavia and Czechoslovakia.

To those who believe that the Allies have been wasting their time on highly idealistic problems in trying to set these four nations upon their feet it may be answered that the interest of the Allies is by no means altruistic. They are impelled if not by wholly selfish motives, at least by the practical consideration of self-defence. For instance, in the late war Germany and Austria were in control of a man-power estimated at 30,000,000, made up of subject races that were no more racially akin to Germany than are the French. These millions were Poles, Czechs and Slavs who had been ruthlessly misgoverned by Germany and Austria for generations. When the opportunity occurred these forced soldiers surrounded in great numbers to their nominal enemies, who were their racial kin, as for instance when the Czech-Slavs threw down their arms to the Russians and later volunteered for service against Germany in France. The Allies are determined that it shall be taken out of the power of Germany and Austria for all time to come to employ these millions as cannon fodder. The intention is to attach them permanently if informally, to the Allies. They will be the buffer between Germany and Western and Southern Europe.

Poland is re-established as a buffer state between the militarism of Germany and the anarchy of Russia. Poland has a couple of sweet neighbors. As all the world knows, the Poles have never lost their race identity whether under German, Russian or Austrian domination. They formed a solid block of about 20,000,000 people in the heart of Europe. But when the task came of drawing up the new Polish frontier a grave problem was encountered, and that was the presence of a line of German nationality along the Baltic. These two and a half millions are the most German of Germans. They shut off the new state of Poland from a sea outlet on the Baltic and Poland without a sea coast would be in economic slavery to Germany. On the other hand, one of the Wilson fourteen points seemed to forbid the annexation of so great a number of aliens as the Baltic Germans by the Poles. At one time the suggestion was made that Poland should be given a corridor through Germany to the Baltic. The objection to this course was that it would force on Poland two boundary lines that she could not defend against Germany. So now it appears to have been decided that the Baltic Germans will have to become citizens of the Polish state or move out. Poland is to get her Baltic coast and Danzig.

Immediately to the south of Poland forming a barrier between Germany, on the one hand, and Austria and Hungary on the other, is Czechoslovakia. It is composed of Bohemia, Moravia, Silesia and a part of Hungary, with a total population of 12,350,000, and an area of 13,500 square miles. Here, as with Poland, there was a problem constituted by the German population along the frontier, and here again it was determined that in order that Czechoslovakia should have natural boundaries, these aliens would have to be included. The re-establishing of Roumania already existed, and the only task was to define her new frontier. There had already been indicated by the fact that adjoining Roumania in both Russia and Austria, were large numbers of Roumanians by racial origin. The original Roumanians had an area of 52,000 square miles and a population of 7,500,000. Under the new arrangement her population and her area will be practically doubled by the addition of Besarabia, Transylvania, Bukovina and part of Banat.

The greatest problem of the map-makers and negotiators was in the erection of Jugo-Slavia, which is to include Serbia, Montenegro, Bosnia, Herzegovina, Croatia-Slavonia, Dalmatia and Dravina. The population is homogeneous enough despite the formidable array of "names" and is known as the South Slav nation, namely to Slavonia, the Croats and the Serbs. The difficulty was that while most of the frontiers of the new state were natural and easily determined, Jugo-Slavia and Italian interests and sympathies conflicted in Dalmatia and about Fiume and Trieste. These were accentuated by the fact that when Italy entered the war she was guaranteed by Britain and France the Slav hinterland of Trieste, then Austrian, but now coveted by Jugo-Slavia, of which she staunch ally, Serbia, is the controlling nation. At one time this claim, threatened to be serious, but it is believed to have been amicably settled, Italy giving up all or most of her Dalmatian claims in return for Fiume, which is wholly Italian.

British Puzzled Huns

By Advancing Sham Tanks

To Draw Artillery Fire

REFERENCES in St. Douglas Hain's victory despatch to dodges of camouflage by which the very guileful German was tricked give only a pale suggestion of the numerous artifices actually used.

Tanks offered perhaps the best opening, because the Germans were so terrified by them. One stalwart colonel of tanks spent months in Flanders entraining and detrainning the same little squad of tanks for the sole edification of enemy airmen and possible spies. The writer has since seen a German intelligence report complaining that the airmen always reported tanks, even when there were none, and refusing utterly to credit their news of real tanks assembling behind Aras because information had been so wrong in Flanders and elsewhere.

We used tanks made of lath and canvas as early as September, 1916, leaving them on the skyline at dawn and drawing a furious barrage. A few little bottles of these dummies were used in front of the Hindenburg line in October last, but the effect was, or should have been, rather spoiled by the effect of a strong wind which got under the canvas and totally exposed one.

It was betrayed very much like the wood gun in the dummy Agamemnon, which gaily floated off the surface of the Mediterranean when the ship was struck. Happily in both cases the Germans duly reported the destruction of the target.

Our airmen, whom the enemy were always attempting to deceive, were themselves adept at deception. False airmen with false tanks and even false machines littered the country, and some were riddled with bombs. As soon as enemy night bombers were reported an electric light or two would be switched on in the dummy while the neighboring reality reposed in safe obscurity.

In the second battle of Meuse a whole corps, the Eighth, was given a purely dummy part. A sham camp was rigged up at night and quantities of dummy figures, at least as plausible as any of the false heads used by German snipers were shown in support trenches.

The Jure worked to perfection, and very soon after dawn German batteries poured shells among the empty tents and the infantry made all preparations to resist an attack in force, afterward daily chronicled in the German communiqués as if a real assault had been stopped.

The writer has seen German artillery "drawn" in all sorts of ways. In one of the Thiepval attacks clouds of smoke were released on one tank, and the fear of what might be lurking within it drew down an intense barrage just at the moment when the real assault was delivered on the right wing.

With equal success decoys were placed in the night along the Belgian coast when we advertised a sham threat, and it was great sport the next day to watch the German shore batteries and huge single guns "registering" for all they were worth on these suspicious anchorages.

Both sides had many sham batteries made of iron pipes or even trees, and the enemy went so far as to shoot sham flashes from sham guns. But the immense superiority of our airmen in observation and photography made us much less gullible than the Germans, even when their efforts were more elaborate.

Princess Patricia

Is Mother of Children

They Will be Born Royal

ALTHOUGH Lady Patricia Ramsay, who married Westminster Abbey on her wedding day as a Princess of the Blood and emerged therefrom as a commoner, has surrendered her place in the line of succession to the British crown, along with all her royal immunities and prerogatives, yet the rights of any children to whom she may give birth will in no wise be affected by her renunciation. For the most eminent jurists of the United Kingdom and of continental nations of Europe are united in their contention that parents have no power to sacrifice rights of their children, minors or as yet unborn.

It is on the cards, therefore, that a descendant of Lady Patricia Ramsay, though she and her husband are now commoners, may yet become ruler of the British Empire.

Next in line of succession to the five children of George V. comes his sister, the widowed Princess Royal, whose two children are the young Duchess of Fife and the still unmarried Princess Maud. The Duchess of Fife is married to the Duke of Connaught's only son, Prince Arthur, and they have a little boy and girl, both commoners in the eyes of the law, although the boy bears the courtesy title of Lord Macduff, next in the line of succession to the crown. Then there is the Duchess of Fife's younger sister Maud; after her comes King George's unmarried sister, Princess Victoria; then his youngest sister, Queen Maud of Norway, and her little boy, Crown Prince Olaf; after them the four daughters of King Edward's sailor brother, the late Duke Alfred, sovereign of Saxony-Coburg-Gotha, and their children. Next are the Duke of Connaught and his only son, Prince Arthur, already dealt with, as the husband of the Duchess of Fife. Afterward come Prince Arthur's eldest sister, the Crown Princess of Sweden and her children and finally the offspring yet unborn of the newly married Lady Patricia Ramsay.

If Lady Patricia Ramsay's marriage to Lord Dalhousie's sailor brother, Capt. the Hon. Alexander Ramsay of the royal navy, has been so readily sanctified by King George and has been welcomed by the people of Great Britain it is because the union is of a nature to emphasize the continuity of the reigning house of England from that foreign dynasty, according to the terms of which royalty can only mate with royalty, and so on, of sovereign dynasties are barred from marrying any but members of other dynasties. This had the effect of restricting English princes and princesses in the line of succession to the British crown to the choice of consorts reigning houses or else to first or second cousins among English royalty, to which there were manifest objections. There will, of course, be no more British royal marriages with Germans.

Odd Occupations

"Appendix to British Army Order No. 6," dealing with "Record of Occupation in Civil Life," which supplies "Classification of Industries by Groups," proves the compiler to be possessed of an unlimited supply of dry humor.

The monumental work touches upon every man's calling, from that of an almost blancher to a stinging man, with but one exception. Strange and weird to the uninitiated are many of these callings. Here are some of them:

Alcher, airwayman, amuseur, anode man, backstupper, bait mixer, butcher, late shaver, beachman, bomber, boiler gut, boiler up, booter, baker, beater, binger, justice man, lapper, kibbler, driver, lag, peeper, packwalker, puncher, pusher, sample bruiser, slasher, sponge, stumbler, twister, whipper, wuzzer.

The compilation occupies 125 pages of closely-spaced type, and the only profession overlooked by the compiler is that of public hangman.

Laying a Ghost

The lieutenant had just been relieved, writes "I. S. T.," and was winding his way from the destroyer's bridge to his cabin. It was fairly calm, but very dark, and there was little to be seen but a line of waves on each side and the dim form of a second destroyer in station astern. Even for this "No. 1" had no eyes, for he had had a weary middle watch and had his only interest. But he did notice a weird figure, apparently human, crawling about near the "handrail" of the after gun.

He went to investigate and found the surgeon prostrate, clad in a champagne leather overalls, in which he had been sleeping on the wardroom couch below—for every one must sleep more or less clad, ready to turn out at a moment's notice. He was feeling about in the dark, apparently in search of something.

"What on earth are you doing, doc?" he asked, and got the brief answer, "Laying a ghost." The first lieutenant granted and disappeared below, leaving the doctor to insert a paper wedge between those rattling shells and the side of the stand in which it was placed.

A ghost, in naval language, is a name which cannot be accounted for, for a destroyer once becomes a consciousness in noise.

Country Before Party

There was a delightful old world touch about the advice of his son which Major Lewis Motley, V.D., of Kirkstall, Leeds, England, set out in his will. It ran: That his married life (except for sickness) had been without a cloud, and he desired his son, Paul and Lewis, to remember that they came of an old and gentle family.

The Golden Cow

A Goldstone, Surrey, England, lady has just recovered her wedding ring, which disappeared five or six years ago while she was feeding a calf.

It was thought the animal had swallowed the ring, and as it could not be found the calf became known as "the golden cow."

A few days ago the cow was purchased and killed by an Oxford butcher, who, being informed of the lost ring, made a search, and discovered the ring embedded in an internal organ. The ring has been restored to the owner.

"Ad." Was Misleading

An advertisement published in a Manchester, England, paper aroused much indignation. It read, among other things:

"The manager of the firm concerned, which operates a bleaching and dyeing plant, explained that the advertisement should have read: 'Agerman wanted,' etc. 'We certainly don't want a German,' he said. 'An agerman is a worker in charge of a machine which does colors.'"

UNKNOWN MAN DROWNED

Body Young Man Found on Tuesday Afternoon - Seen in Water a Couple of Days - Remains Undiscovered

GRIMSBY Beach, and this District was the recipient of a rude and gruesome shock on Tues. afternoon, July 22, 1917, when the body of a unknown man was found washed up on the beach beside of the pier at the well-known Ontario resort.

The body which was that of a man in the neighborhood of sixty years of age was but scantily attired, and had apparently been in the water two or three days. His height would be about five feet, eight inches, and weight about 145 pounds; having iron gray hair and heavy beard.

The deceased was entirely unknown to anyone in the District but had been noticed several days ago, begging for food, and it is thought he had been in swimming during the hot spell of last week, and been drowned, as there were no marks of violence on his body and portions of his clothing were found under some bushes a short distance up the beach.

The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of J. C. Marlett & Son, GRIMSBY. Dr. Alexander, coroner, having decided no inquest was necessary, and the funeral took place from there on Wednesday morning, July 23, 1917, to Queens Lawn Cemetery.

Know the Answer.

Dr. Harrison Allan, treasurer of the Bible Society of America, said in an address recently: "We find a deplorable ignorance of the Bible even among the higher classes. When, now and then, we meet some one who possesses a little biblical knowledge, we are apt to be ridiculously proud about it. A young millionaire and his wife were once talking to me about a visit they had made to the famous picture gallery of the Prado in Spain. 'What did you like best in the Prado?' I asked. 'The Cordeiro,' said the husband—a Cordeiro of Adam and Eve in the garden, with the apple and the serpent.' Then the young wife looked at me with a superior air and asked: 'Well, that interested me especially because, you see, we know the answer!'"

MARY MAC LAREN
"THE UNPAINTED WOMAN"

Now a woman, buried under the concept of a small town and hardened with sorrows that descended from the cloud of her first tragic romance grins her teeth and fights—fights until success and happiness is hers, is shown in one of the most intensely human stories yet released for the screen. "The Unpainted Woman," a Universal special with Mary MacLaren, starring at Moore's Theatre, Wednesday, July 26th.

CANADA TAKES HER FULL SHARE WITH THE WORLD'S NATIONS

The forward step was taken when plenipotentiaries signed the treaty of peace at Versailles with those of the world powers. From the time the first British settler came to this country, the possibilities were here of founding and developing a great nation to even with its place along with the other great nations of the world. Many weary years have intervened since then, and at times it seemed as if such a thing could never be accomplished. But the faith of the pioneer has been justified, and they who built better than they knew" succeeded to their children a rich heritage which is now reaching its full fruition.

It growth has been accelerated, not forced, by the awful hours of agony endured during the last four years of horrible warfare. But that is now a thing of the past and today her sons and daughters recall in the dignity of their newly acquired Nationhood, stand upon the threshold of a new era. Whatever may be the national characteristics that eventually will be one of the chief traits of Canadians it is of vital importance at this stage of development that habits of thrift should be cultivated by the people. To "teach the young idea how to shoot" is no longer popular or necessary—but to teach the children the true meaning of Thrift—in all its relationships, will be to provide them with an equipment for fighting the battle of life successfully and for developing a sturdy type of character. With this object in view the Thrift Campaign—by means of War Savings and Thrift Stamps, should find a response everywhere and should deserve the cordial support of parents, teachers, and all educational agencies.

OIL BADLY NEEDED
Fruit Growers Still Suffer From Drought—No One Sees to Care—WHY??

We have drawn attention to the condition of the Main Road, East and West of the Village, relative to the dust nuisance upon it, until we are almost sick and tired of the words "dust" and "oil"—but we intend to carry on with our campaign for a little real service along the road until the Provincial Department of Highways become sufficiently aroused, directly or indirectly, to take the matter in hand and pay some attention to the demands and needs of the fruit growers along the road.

As has been mentioned and so is well known, after a great many weeks' delay and "putting about," the Department sent out an oil-spreading machine to this section and work of oiling in road East and West of the Village was commenced. Unfortunately a heavy rain came just at that time and although anybody who has ever done any road work knows the effectiveness of the application of oil is spoiled almost entirely, if it is applied to a wet road, or while it is raining, the work men in charge of the oiling carried on hitherto during the rain—putting oil upon the road, only to have it flooded into the ditches.

The result of this careless inefficiency on the part of the local engineer and workmen has been such that the roads are now almost as dusty, dangerous and as much of a nuisance, as they were previous to the advent of the oil to the district. The damage to the fruit crops that was done cannot, of course, be now remedied, unless the Highway Department wishes to play fair with the fruit growers and recompense them for the damage done. But the damage that is still being done to the fruit crops can certainly be stopped—by the use of a little brains and some oil, on the part of the powers that be at this section of the Highway.

And it looks as though the gas of that brainwork and oil was not going to be secured unless the residents of this section or the Councils representing them, take the matter in hand and go after the responsible officer with right heartily, and DEMAND, not ask, to be protected from a nuisance that is as dangerous and damaging to the fruit crops and traffic as anything can be imagined to be.

WHY NOT WAKE UP, COUNCILS, AND DO SOMETHING???

It's better to PAINT than REPAIR

For Home Attractiveness

FOR your own satisfaction and for consideration of your neighbors, keep your home attractive outside as well as inside. Keep it well-painted—use a paint that is more than a "beautifier"—get the brand that acts as a "preservative" as well.

B-H PAINT

It isn't the cost of a paint that counts—it's the value—its service per dollar. So even though B-H is more expensive paint, it's worth it because it's the brand that does the job. We know of no other brand of paint so dependable—none other has the correct capacity for the durability that distinguishes B-H. That's why we sell it—we find only its using its use because the makers' guarantee is stamped on every can, and that formula is the right formula for paint, namely: 75% pure white lead—25% pure white zinc.
